

Quick guide to accommodation areas in Manchester

Salford Quays

Salford Quays is a trendy, modern waterfront development, close to Manchester City Centre and well served by buses and the Metrolink (trams). The area is popular with young professionals as well as students and offers a wealth of arts, leisure and entertainment opportunities.

Prestwich

Prestwich is known for its large, orthodox Jewish community and for being friendly and peaceful; many mature students and postgraduates enjoy the environment. Europe's largest public park, Heaton Park, is situated to the east of the town. The park has tennis courts, a golf course, an animal farm, boating lake, pitch and putt and an observatory. The city centre can be reached in 10 minutes by tram.

Hulme

Hulme has recently been regenerated and revamped and has purpose built student accommodation. It has a great market and several stores yet is only a ten minute walk to the city.

The University of Law

Hulme

Northern Quarter / City Centre

The University of Law is located between Piccadilly and the Northern Quarter. Piccadilly is the main gateway into the city centre with Piccadilly gardens and Piccadilly train station. The Northern Quarter is Manchester's creative, urban heart with independent fashion and record stores including an array of bars, cafes and restaurants. Other areas to note are Spinningfields, Castlefield, Deansgate for their lively bars and restaurants.

Chorlton

Trendy and desirable, Chorlton is known for its organic shopping and cafe-bar culture. Chorlton is approximately three miles south of the city centre and is well served by its own bus routes and is popular with postgraduates. Mersey Valley provides plentiful open and nature-filled spaces and its tree-lined streets help project a calm residential area.
